Welcome to Phang Nga province – a truly cycling paradise close to Phuket Island

Phang Nga province is equally renowned for its beautiful land, spectacular bay, and amazing islands. Phang Nga national parks feature magnificent scenery with immensely different attractions. Most famous is Phang Nga Bay National Park, a geological wonder filled with islets, sunken caverns, and startling limestone rock formations rising vertically out of the sea. Discover countless nearly traffic free smooth roads. Let yourself be pampered by our Royal Service [👑]. You enjoy cycling, leave the rest to us!

Khok Kloi, Phang Nga – a heaven on earth

Day 1 Arrival in Khok Kloi, Natai Beach 25 minutes from Phuket Airport

Upon arriving at the Hotel, centrally located in the heart of Khok Kloi, you will enjoy all the amenities of our hotel. Refresh yourself in the pool or visit beautiful Natai Beach. It takes only 7 minutes to get there. In the late afternoon we fix the bikes for the next day's first stage. In the evening we will greet and welcome all guests and inform you about the tour and provide a bit of interesting information about our host country. At the end, every participant will receive a high-quality team jersey.

Day 2 Let's get on the bikes and ride the scenic coastal road

Stage 1 Khok Kloi – Thai Muang Beach – Khok Kloi → 66 km | 41 miles ▲ flat

Natai Beach is one of the most beautiful hidden gems of Thailand's west coast. We follow the winding coastal road until Thai Muang Beach. Let's ride into the National Park and discover another stunning beach there. After a break in a cozy beach café, we're heading back to Chilli Cycling Terminal in Khok Kloi and enjoy another fancy drink there. ✂ B | L

Day 3 A touch of Phuket – Laem Sai pier – Mai Khao Beach

Stage 2 Khok Kloi – Phuket Island – Khok Kloi → 80 km | 48 miles ▲ mostly flat

After crossing the 660 meter long New Sarasin Bridge we arrive to Thailand's largest island Phuket. On a nice, quiet road we're heading to Laem Sai pier and having a drink at a cozy sea-side Café. We enjoy the view of the opposite mainland of Phang Nga province. They way back to Khok Kloi leads us to Mai Khao Beach. We cross the bridge to the mainland again and follow the coastal road to the hotel. ✂ B | L

A trip to Laem Sai pier on Phuket Island on stage 2

Day 4 Samed Nangshe viewpoint

Stage 3 Khok Kloi — Samed Nangshe — Khok Kloi → 66 km | 41 miles ▲ undulating

Through a scenic landscape characterised by coconut palms, we ride to the beach of Natai. Samed Nangshe Viewpoint is one of the most popular panoramas in Phang Nga. Located on a hilltop, it offers stunning views over the limestone islets of Phang Nga Bay. It's a 5 minutes' drive by pick-up to get there. The gradient of the ascent is too steep and cannot be done by bike. ✕ B | L

Day 5 Coconut loop – THE dream road for cyclists

Stage 4 Khok Kloi — Thung Maprao — Khok Kloi → 85 km | 53 miles ▲ undulating

This stretch looks like it was built extra for cycle touring. Virtually traffic-free, we pedal along the coast of the Andaman Sea through rubber tree and palm forests. After passing Thung Maprao (=coconut field) we enter another perfect cycling route. For the next 40k (25mi) we ride on a super smooth road through a wonderful scenic landscape. Back to Khok Kloi we enjoy a well-deserved chilled drink. ✕ B | L

Day 6 Hang out on Natai Beach or book an optional trip to the Similan islands

Rest day in Khok Kloi

Today's rest day offers you the opportunity to sleep in, relax and swim in the hotel's pool. Nature lovers may prefer the white sandy Natai Beach and treating themselves to a massage afterward. The beautiful coastal road entices cyclists to go out for another voluntary ride on the bike. Optionally we could organize a one-day boat trip to one of the world's famous diving areas – The Similan Islands ✕ B

Day 7 Afternoon boat trip into Phang Nga Bay (optional)

Stage 5 Khok Kloy – Phang Nga → 71 km | 44 miles ▲ flat and slightly undulating

We depart in the morning from our hotel in Khok Kloy. The road to Phang Nga leads through a lovely tropical landscape. In the afternoon we glide in longboats through a world of stony islets, overgrown with lush green vegetation. The Phang Nga Bay National Marine Park is renowned for its unspoiled mangrove forests and limestone karsts. You may recognise the rock formations from the James Bond film "The man with the golden Gun", giving the trip its name as the "James Bond Island Tour". ✕ B | L

Stunning view over the limestone peaks of Khao Sok National Park on stage 6

Day 8 Optional canoe trip on Phanom river

Stage 6 Phang Nga – Khao Sok National Park → 105 km | 71 miles ▲ flat and undulating

After passing Thaput, we pedal on a quiet and nice rural road to Phanom. The majestic limestone rocks topped with jungle vegetation stay with us today. We finally reach Khao Sok National Park head quarter. As optional part of the program we spend the afternoon exploring the nearby river on a canoe trip. Bizarre limestone rock formations and dense jungle pass us by. The Khao Sok National Park is famous for its huge variety of plants and wildlife. ✕ B | L

Day 9 Relax at the Andaman Sea

Stage 7 Khao Sok National Park – Khao Lak → 84 km | 52 miles ▲ mainly flat

Shortly after the start, there is a slight descent that leads us right through the jungle. After enjoying a breath-taking view on top, we head towards Takua Pa Old Town. We cycle on a quite side road through the ever-changing countryside and travel through idyllic villages with fantastic mountain views. Let's have a short picture stop at the Tsunami Memorial. In the afternoon there is plenty of time for swimming and relaxing, with the luxury of both a swimming pool and the sandy beach to choose from. ✕ B | L

Day 10 End of an unforgettable cycling experience and overnight stay in Khok Kloi
Stage 8 Khao Lak — Khok Kloi → 82 km | 50 miles ▲ flat, slightly undulating

Passing Thung Maprao, we pedal virtually traffic-free through rubber tree and palm forests with an impressive mountain backdrop. On perfect flat roads we arrive at Thai Muang Beach and have a refreshing coffee break. We follow the stunning coastal road back to Natai Beach. The tour ends after taking awesome pictures on majestic Natai pier. In the early afternoon we organize the transfer to your next destination (Not included). Holiday extensions could be arranged by us. ✂ B | L | D
